

Privacy Policy

Last updated: 15.5.2018

This privacy policy applies to the use of the Novia Global Wealth Management Service ("The Service") by existing and prospective Investors, Advisers and employees, agents and contractors of Firms, suppliers and other parties with which we have relationships. Novia Global Limited ("Novia", "we", "us" or "our") is committed to protecting and respecting your privacy.

This policy together with our Terms of Use (<http://www.novia-global.com/terms-of-use/>) (and any other documents referred to in it) sets out the basis on which any personal data we collect from you, or that you or your Adviser provide to us, will be processed by us or shared by us. Please read the following carefully to understand our views and practices regarding your personal data and how we will treat it. By visiting www.novia-global.com (our website) you are accepting the practices described in this policy.

Novia is the data controller and responsible for your personal data covered by this privacy notice.

Our Head of Compliance is responsible for overseeing questions in relation to this privacy policy. Questions, comments and requests regarding this privacy policy are welcomed and should be addressed to:

We will not use your personal data to make any decisions about you on an automated basis.

How we share your information

We will only share your personal data with third parties as described in this privacy notice or where we are required to do so by law or regulation. For example we may be required to disclose personal data to reduce, prevent and detect fraud or to comply with a court order.

Organisations we may be required to provide your personal data to include:

- > The Financial Conduct Authority
- > The Financial Ombudsman Service
- > HM Revenue & Customs
- > Crime Prevention agencies

We will disclose your personal information to members of our group and to various suppliers and sub-contractors who assist us with the provision of The Service:

- > Your Adviser
- > fund managers of investments in your Account
- > our printing and mailing supplier
- > the disposer of our confidential waste
- > our auditors, lawyers, bankers, and insurers who provide accounting consultancy, banking, legal and insurance services, government departments.

We require all third parties to respect the security of your personal data and to treat it in accordance with the law. We do not allow our third-party service providers to use your personal data for their own purposes and only permit them to process your personal data for specified purposes and in accordance with our instructions.

We may choose to sell, transfer, or merge parts of our business or assets with a third party, in which case we will disclose your personal data to the prospective seller or buyer of such business or assets but only as part of a confidential due diligence process.

Where we store your personal data

Information you provide to us is stored on secure servers located in the UK which are provided and managed by external suppliers appointed by us. The server suppliers are subject to strict contractual requirements on data security. We also have internal policies and controls in place to minimise the risk of your data being lost, misused, accidentally destroyed or disclosed.

Some of your personal data we collect may be transferred to, and stored at, a destination outside the European Economic Area ("EEA"). Whenever we transfer your personal data out of the EEA, we ensure a similar degree of protection is afforded to it by ensuring one of the following safeguards is implemented:

We will only transfer your personal data to countries that have been deemed to provide an adequate level of protection for personal data by the European Commission. For further details, see European Commission: Adequacy of the protection of personal data in non-EU countries. https://ec.europa.eu/info/law/law-topic/data-protection/data-transfers-outside-eu/adequacy-protection-personal-data-non-eu-countries_en

Where we use certain service providers, we will use specific contract terms approved by the European Commission which give personal data the same protection it has in the EEA. For further details, see European Commission: Model contracts for the transfer of personal data to third countries. https://ec.europa.eu/info/law/law-topic/data-protection/data-transfers-outside-eu/model-contracts-transfer-personal-data-third-countries_en

Where we have given you (or where you have chosen) a password which enables you to access certain parts of our website, you are responsible for keeping this password confidential. We ask you not to share a password with anyone. We use strict procedures and security features to guard against unauthorised access of all personal data we hold.

Period for Retaining Personal Data

In general we will keep personal data for at least seven years longer than the period you hold your Account with us, but there are some exceptions. For example we will retain records where relevant to a legal claim.

Your rights

You have the following rights in relation to your personal data:

Request access to your personal data: You can ask for a copy of the personal data we hold about you free of charge. However, we may charge a reasonable fee if your request is repetitive or excessive or we may refuse to comply with your request.

We may need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity to ensure that personal data is not disclosed to any person not entitled to receive it. We may also contact you to ask you for further information to speed up our response.

We try to respond to all legitimate requests within one month of receipt, but it may take longer than a month if your request is particularly complex. In this case, we will notify you and keep you updated.

Request correction of your personal data: You have the right ask for any incomplete or inaccurate data we hold about you to be corrected, though we may need to verify the accuracy of the new data provided to us.

Request the deletion of your personal data: you may ask us to delete or remove personal data where there is no good reason for us continuing to process it. Please note, however, we may not always be able to comply with your request (for example where data is retained to fulfil our regulatory obligations).

Object to processing of your personal data: where we are relying on a legitimate interest and you want to object to processing on this ground as you feel it impacts on your rights and freedoms you may object to our processing of data. In some cases, we may demonstrate that we have compelling legitimate grounds to process your information which override your rights and freedoms.

Request restriction of processing of your personal data: you may ask us to restrict the processing of your personal data in the following scenarios: (a) if you want us to establish the data's accuracy; (b) where our use of the data is unlawful but you do not want us to erase it; (c) where you need us to hold the data even if we no longer require it as you need it to establish, exercise or defend legal claims; or (d) you have objected to our use of your data but we need to verify whether we have overriding legitimate grounds to use it.

Request transfer of your personal data: where information has been provided to us either so that we can perform a contract with you or by your consent you can request the transfer of your data to you or to a third party. We will provide to you, or a third party you have chosen, your personal data in a commonly used format.

Withdraw consent: You can withdraw consent at any time where we are relying on consent to process your personal data. However, this will not affect the lawfulness of any processing carried out before you withdraw your consent. If you withdraw your consent, we may not be able to provide certain services to you. We will advise you if this is the case at the time you request to withdraw your consent.

If you wish to exercise any of the rights set out above, please contact our Head of Compliance.
